

ENGL 7001/8001 – ACADEMIC GENRES AND SCHOLARLY PUBLISHING
SPRING 2024
DR. SUNDVALL

Abstracts, proposals, publications, oh my! This course will demystify the genres of writing necessary for scholarly success, including but not limited to: how to identify appropriate journals, publishers, and conferences; how to write a successful abstract, precis, or proposal; how to submit and revise journal articles; how to construct a contemporary curriculum vitae; as well as how to prepare for the job market. All assignments will be curated for each individual student's unique research agenda, goals, and position in graduate school.
